Comments:

Another fantastic winter fell race. The temperature was 6 Celsius at the start and about 3 Celsius at the highest point without the wind chill factor. The men's race was a very competitive event with 5 men being in the leading group. Lewis Banton managed a decent break in the latter half of the race going on to win from Jim Mann and a hotly contested third spot between Andrew Minister, Gary Webb and Cameron Taylor the leading junior. Gary gave the best performance of the day in the veteran's sections finishing well clear of Paul Kelly in the V50 (who had some consolation in anchoring Durham Fell Runners to a team victory). In the women's race it was another very sparkling performance on a dull day - weather wise! from Shelli Gordon. This was also a very close race with Rhona Haslam and the Junior - Charlotte Edge providing some very stiff competition. Hope to see you at Commondale for 'The Clart' which is the first race in this year's North East Champs..... Dave Parry
